SKY

READING SCALE

Up

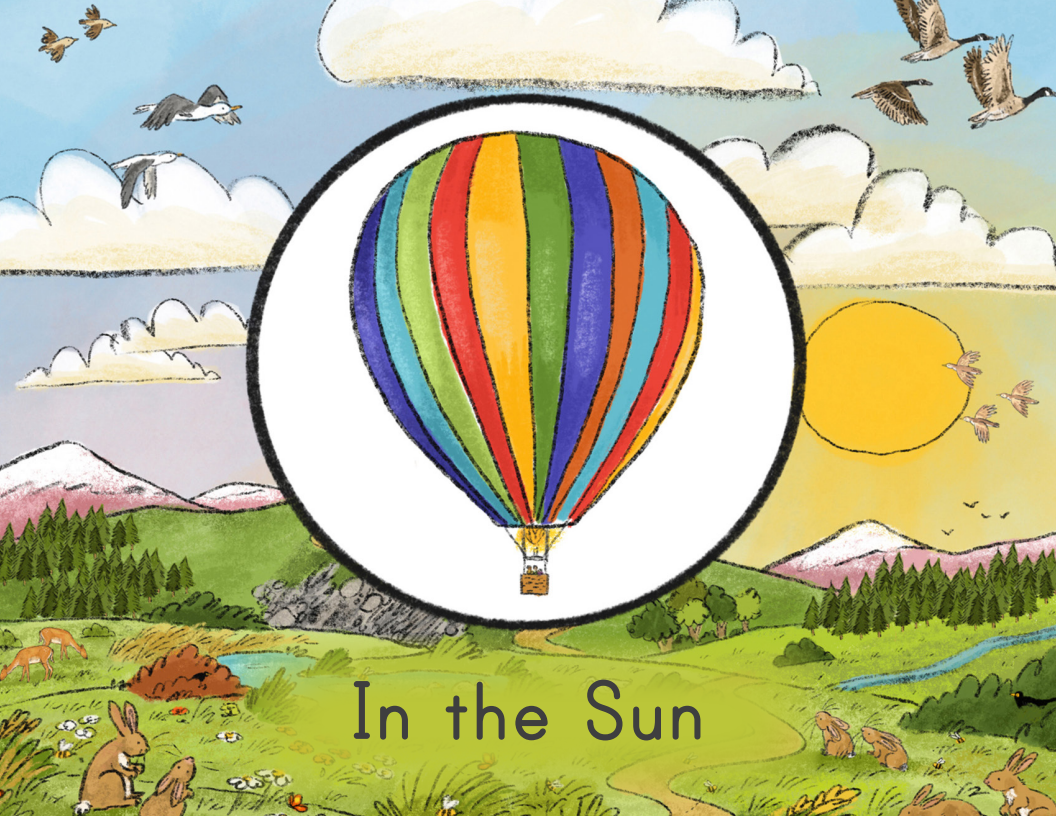

A vibrant, cartoon-style illustration of a landscape. In the foreground, a grey road with white dashed lines runs horizontally. Below the road, there are green grassy areas with white daisies, blue flowers, and a small brown mouse. To the right, a brown rabbit is visible. In the middle ground, a blue river flows through a green field. In the background, there are rolling hills and mountains in shades of red, orange, and brown. A dark, stormy cloud with rain is on the right, while a bright yellow sun is on the left. The sky is blue with several white birds flying. The text "Is it red? Yes." is centered in the upper half of the image.

Is it red? Yes.

A vibrant, stylized illustration of a rural landscape. The sky is a mix of light blue and yellow, with a large, bright sun on the left casting rays across the scene. Several birds are shown in flight, some in the foreground and others in the distance. The ground is divided into various sections: a green field with a herd of brown cows and a tractor, a field with white sheep, a brown field, and a road with a purple car and a yellow car. In the background, there are green hills, a small town with white buildings, and trees with autumn foliage. The overall style is simple and colorful, typical of a children's book illustration.
